Policy Statement

Next Business Energy (NBE) recognises family violence is a serious and widespread issue that affects the whole community. At Next Business Energy, we try our best to effectively support customers who may be experiencing family violence directly or indirectly.

Purpose

This policy outlines the support available to all customers who may be experiencing or perpetrating family violence. We are committed to giving our customers (including former customers, who may be affected by family violence) and staff a safe and supportive environment to access relevant information and manage their personal and financial security.

What is Family violence?

We recognise that there are many forms of family violence and for the purposes of this policy we define it as;

- (a) behaviour by a person towards a family member of that person if that behaviour –
 - (i) is physically or sexually abusive; or
 - (ii) is emotionally or psychologically abusive; or
 - (iii) is economically abusive; or
 - (iv) is threatening; or
 - (v) is coercive; or
 - (vi) in any other way controls or dominates the family member and causes that family member to feel fear for the safety or wellbeing of that family member or another person; or
- (b) behaviour by a person that causes a child to hear or witness, or otherwise be exposed to the effects of, behaviour referred to above.

Family Violence Policy

Scope

This Policy applies to employees and customers identified by themselves, an independent financial counsellor or case worker, as experiencing family violence.

What are your rights as our customer?

As a customer or a staff member who is experiencing family violence, we are committed to:

- Ensure you are safe and supported.
- Ensure your personal information is managed privately and sensitively.
- Ensure information pertaining to customers and staff affected by family violence is handled securely and confidentially.
- Ensure we manage customers affected by family violence on a case-by-case basis.
- We will consider the debt on the account and other supports available to our customers. E.g. – Grants and Concessions etc.
- Ensure processes are in place to avoid customers having to repeatedly disclose of their violence circumstances, and provide for continuity of service for customers affected by family violence;
- Provide information on External family violence support services.
- Publish this Policy on our website and provide it to our customers and staff on request.

Account Security

We take our obligations regarding your personal information seriously and we manage this in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and the Australian Privacy Principles. A copy of our privacy policy is available here.

When you inform us that you are experiencing family violence, we will:

- Provide you with support, such as flagging your account for family violence, to ensure that your information is only accessed by senior employees within our organisation.
- Request you at the time of notification if you would like to set up a password or security questions to protect your account details and confidential information.
- Send bills and other communications only via your new preferred method of communication.

Your personal information will be securely handled and will remain confidential. We will not disclose a customer's confidential information to any other person without your prior consent.

Training and Awareness

All our customer service staff and credit management staff will be trained in awareness of family violence. We will case manage your account(s) on an individual basis and all information will be treated privately and handled confidentially.

Our staff will contact the emergency services (Police and or the Ambulance) on request by a customer or if we believe they need further assistance.

If our customer has disclosed family violence – We will discuss a safety plan with an impacted customer to confirm and ensure the customer's and their children's safety.

We will provide information to customers regarding concessions, rebates and grants, and the availability of external family violence support services (see below).

Family Violence Policy

Supporting Documentation

We will never request you or a third party acting on your behalf to provide specific documentation or evidence before providing you with support under this policy or the Rules.

Debt Management Support

Customers experiencing family violence can access Next Business Energy's Payment Difficulty and Hardship program.

For more information please see Next Business Energy's Hardship Policy.
